

Friday 18th September @ Lymm High School - 7.30pm

The Age of Stupid stars Oscar-nominated Pete Postlethwaite as a man living alone in the devastated world of 2055. He looks at "old" footage from 2008 and asks: why didn't we stop climate change when we have the chance?

"Bold, supremely provocative, and hugely important....a cry from the heart as much as a roar for necessary change." - The Telegraph

"You won't see a more important film this year." - News of the World

The film launched in the UK in March where - despite having an advertising budget of zero £s - it reached No 1 at the box office and broke the Guinness World Record for the biggest simultaneous film premiere - whilst only producing only 1% of the emissions of a normal premiere.

Hand-outs on the night will include free low energy light bulbs and information packs on how to reduce your energy use and save money.
